

Australia's leading provider of counterterrorism education

The Australian Graduate School of Policing and Security (AGSPS) is one of the world's leading providers of national security and law enforcement education and training.

The Master of Terrorism and Security Studies program at AGSPS has been developed in consultation with international security professionals and is targeted at practitioners who seek to expand their knowledge and understanding of intelligence, security, and counterterrorism issues. AGSPS courses are ideally suited to professionals seeking to work in the areas of counterterrorism, intelligence, law enforcement, and the military.

The benefits of studying with AGSPS include:

- internationally recognised postgraduate university qualifications
- flexible study through an international leader in online distance education
- world-class team of academics and experienced industry professionals
- advanced research programs at Master and Doctoral levels
- join an international network of security, counterterrorism and law enforcement graduates.

The elective component in our courses allows for the selection of a range of subjects that best meet your educational needs.

Distance education at CSU allows you to fit study around your existing work and lifestyle commitments. All study materials are delivered online, so you can access them at a time and place that suits you. You will also have access to communication tools to discuss what you are learning with other students and academic staff.

Australian Graduate School of Policing and Security

Professionally relevant | Academically rigorous

www.csu.edu.au/security

 Charles Sturt
University

Paul Robinson CSU graduate

“For anyone considering studying by distance education at CSU, as the Nike ad says, “Just Do It”! I’m 32 years old, have two young children, and had never studied in my life, so needless to say it was a little daunting at first. But I found a course that really interested me and enrolled. It was the best choice I’ve ever made.

“The subjects are well structured and all the information and guidance you need to get through your course is provided. The staff at CSU are friendly and understanding, and are there to answer any questions you have for them (trust me, I’ve asked plenty).

“It takes some discipline to fit study around your life, but the reward of knowing you are doing something beneficial for yourself is all the motivation you’ll need.”

Enrolment pattern

Graduate Certificate in Terrorism and Security Studies

Session 1

GPM417 History and Motivators of Terrorism (16 points)

Session 2

16 points of electives

Graduate Diploma of Terrorism and Security Studies

Session 3

GPM418 Current Conflicts and Emerging Threats (16 points)

Session 4

GPM510 Cyber Security, Terrorism, Crime and Warfare in the 21st Century (8 points)

Elective (8 points)

Master of Terrorism and Security Studies

Session 5

GPM508 Radicalisation, De-radicalisation and Counter-radicalisation (16 points)

Session 6

Elective (16 points)

Electives

In consultation with the Course Director, students can choose from a range of electives across all disciplines the School offers, including:

- Cyber Security
- Emergency Management
- Fraud and Financial Crime
- Intelligence Analysis
- Investigations Management
- Islam and the Modern World
- Policing and Leadership

Further information

For more information about the Master of Terrorism and Security Studies call 1800 334 733 or visit: www.csu.edu.au/security