The Bachelor of Public Safety and Security at Charles Sturt University (CSU) is an internationalised degree designed to prepare and develop the professional practice of those entering or working in the rapidly emerging field of public safety and security. You may be working in fields including policing, corrections, emergency management, investigation and crime reduction. This course will also benefit you if you are working in or aspiring to roles in national security, whether they be protecting borders, or responding to the threat of terrorism.

The course is taught by practitioners, for practitioners, and our professionally trained staff understand the public safety and security field. Subjects are tailored to meet your requirements and interests, ensuring study is relevant to your personal objectives. You will develop skills in conducting the research required to succeed in the industry and exercise your own initiative and knowledge in real-world situations.

This course was originally conceived in a workshop in Canada, and has had input from Canadian Policing and other law enforcement agencies throughout its development.

For more than 20 years the Australian Graduate School of Policing and Security (AGSPS) has been a leading provider of research and education for professionals in law enforcement, emergency management and security. CSU's courses offered through AGSPS span a broad range of global issues that include international terrorism, intelligence analysis, transnational crime, fraud and financial crime, corruption, cyber-crime, and natural disaster management. Our faculty members are leaders in their fields and have significant experience and academic expertise.
Credit
Our strong partnership with Canadian Policing has informed the content of this program, and encouraged us to develop a specific online pathway for Police Foundation Graduates to advance their qualification to a Bachelor degree. CSU offers generous credit packages, recognising previous study and relevant work experience.

Studying online
CSU is Australia’s leading provider of online education with our comprehensive communication system enabling online forums, wikis, blogs, podcasts, access to library resources and assignment submission. Our online supported programs deliver a quality university education to students who are not able to be physically present on campus. With CSU’s flexible study options, you can study from home, work, or anywhere in the world, at a time that suits you and your lifestyle.
